

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A tool comprises a handle having a first color pattern formed thereon, and a transparent first sheath formed of soft material and put on a rear end of the handle so as to completely exhibit a portion of the first color pattern enclosed
5 therein. In another embodiment, a second sheath having a different color pattern formed thereon is put on the rear end of the handle prior to putting the first sheath on the second sheath.